1. Course Objective

Economics is the study of the way people organize their efforts to sustain life and enhance its quality. Individuals engage in four essential economic activities: resource maintenance, production of goods and services, distribution of goods and services, and consumption of goods and services. Economists study how individuals engage in these activities and how their social coordination is achieved.

This course is an introduction to macroeconomics. Unlike microeconomics (that focuses on the activities of households and firms) macroeconomics focuses on the economy as a whole. The topics we will analyze include national income and its determinants, money and credit, fiscal and monetary policies, business cycles and economic growth. Studying macroeconomics can give us perspective on our own economic decisions, as well as inform us as citizens on important political economic issues. The main objectives of the course are:

- To provide students with the theoretical knowledge behind macroeconomic policy-making including a variety of methods and models used for this purpose.
- To introduce existing debates and controversies in macroeconomics to the students by examining different schools of thoughts.
- To enable students to develop necessary skills to apply the methods and models to policy making as well as current economic debates.
- To explore how to make rational decisions using information about the costs and benefits of alternative actions and to teach students the economic way of thinking.

To be successful in this course, students must be proficient in college algebra, geometric, basic data analysis, and the use and interpretation of graphical and tabular information.

2. Course Structure

The course is designed around posted lectures, assigned readings, and class-list discussions. The students are expected to do ALL assigned readings, and to participate in online discussions. Students will be responsible on examinations for ALL ASSIGNED MATERIALS.

3. Course Requirements

The final grade will be based on your performance from: a) two midterms (15% and 20%) and a final exam (25%) (cumulative); b) Problem sets (via Sapling)(20%); and c) Discussion assignments (20%)

3.1. Discussion assignments

There will be a discussion assignment for each section of material. I will post an article for you to read or video for you to watch. I will post a question to the class. Each person must make two posts: an original response to the question, and a response to someone else's post. You will be graded on the thoroughness of your answer, specifically how well you connect what you learned in a given section and the discussion question. Each discussion assignment is equally weighted in the final grade calculation. Each discussion assignment must be completed by its due date (you will not be able to see others' posts before you post your own response first).

3.2. Problem sets

I will post weekly online home works through Sapling (www.saplinglearning.com) and you will have one week to complete these assignments. All problem sets are equally weighted and need to be completed by their due dates, after which the site will be closed for further editing. The purpose of these videos is to give you a preview of what I will cover in each lecture.

3.3. Exam Structure

The exams are non-comprehensive. However, all parts of the course are closely related and therefore you need to have a good understanding of the previous material in order to understand the later parts. The purpose of exams is twofold: to enhance your understanding of fundamental theories and concepts, and to encourage you to apply the theories to the real world. Therefore you may expect applied as well as theoretical questions.

3.4. Policy on Make-up Exam

There are no make-up midterms. If you miss an exam because of a valid reason the weight of all other exams will be increased accordingly. Otherwise you will obtain a score equal to zero. University of Oklahoma sanctioned excused absences include: emergency military service, emergency personal medical event, death or emergency medical event of member of immediate family, or participation in OU sponsored athletic/academic competition. Students with unavoidable conflicts or unexpected emergencies during an exam should contact me to schedule a make-up.

4. Attendance Policy

Students must sit for the midterm and final examinations at the times and dates specified in the schedule below. Students will only be allowed to make-up missed exams and/or quizzes, if they have a valid academic, medical, or family excuse (see student handbook).

5. Textbook and Required Online Sources

- Sapling

You are required to subscribe to Sapling Learning Online Homeworks for Gerald Stone CoreMacroeconomics 2nd edition textbook ($29.99) (ISBN 978-0-9833859-5-0). You have a 14 day grace period to pay once you register. Assignments will be graded and recorded.

- Textbook Options

We will use CoreMacroeconomics by Gerald Stone (2nd ed.). If you choose to buy the e-book version (2nd ed.) through Sapling then the e-textbook plus Sapling Learning is $79.99. Or, if you buy the textbook from the publisher or OU bookstore (or used/older copies), then you need to buy Sapling Learning Online Homeworks access separately.

Additional readings are available from the course website at learn.ou.edu. Other course materials (chapter video lectures, chapter PowerPoint slides, problem sets, practice multiple choice questions, etc.) will be posted on the course webpage at Desire to Learn throughout the semester. All students should check their OU email accounts and the course webpage regularly.

6. Academic Ethics

Cheating on assignments and exams, or plagiarizing (misrepresenting as one's own anything done by another) is penalized by the University of Oklahoma. A student found in such a situation will be given an F and will be brought to University of Oklahoma Honor Council for further penalties as defined under Academic Misconduct. For further information, refer to <http://integrity.ou.edu/>

7. Students with Disabilities

Any student who feels he or she may need an accommodation based on the impact of a disability should contact me privately as soon as possible to discuss his or her specific needs. For details refer to <http://drc.ou.edu/>

8. Religious Holidays

“It is the policy of the University to excuse the absences of students that result from religious observances.”
